

Prominent members of the smart set who have officiated at recent weddings. This group was taken shortly after the Grayson-Priest marriage, where the party formed one of the most picturesque bridal groups seen in recent years. Reading from left to right and beginning on the back row they are: Sain McCluney, who stands with right hand in pocket; Arthur Stickney, Miss Clara Frost of Boston, Arthur Corbett, Graham Wilson, Charles Bascome and John McCluney. The young ladies on the front row, beginning at the left, are: Miss Madeline Hyde of Bath, Me.; Miss Elise Subject of Si, Louis; Miss Bertha Daly of Toledo, O., sitting in the group center; Miss Lucille Heward of St. Louis and Miss Mary Frances Boyce of St. Louis,

The girl with the lovely ruddy hair was lunching with us.

"Heard about Rubber place? No? Why, our block in Washington avenue has twenty-six marriageable girls and eleven widows. Did you ever in your life hear of anything so melancholy? I tried to get paper to move this fall, but he says he won't get out of the old house until he's carried. And the very next day the Blanks moved into the only vacant house, and I found there were four daughters. Really, you know, it's awful. There have only been two weddings of girls, that is, in the block, the last twelve years. Most of us are nice, too, now, aren't we?

Have you seen Louise's engagement ring? It is perfectly gorgeous and so heavy it must welch down her hand. A huge ruby surrounded by three rows of good-sized diamends; really, a wonder I assure you.

"Somebody told me that Guillord Puncan is engaged, but I can't remember the girl. She'll be mighty lucky, anyway, for he's most the nicest fellow in town.

"Do you know Mr. Charles Ward Rhodes? He's possitively the drollest person I ever met. I thought I'd pass away this morning when he bold me that Guillord Puncan is engaged. but I can't remember the girl. Somebody told me that Guillord Puncan is engaged. but I can't remember the girl. Somebody told me that Guillord Puncan is engaged. but I can't remember the girl. The positively the drollest person I ever met. I thought I'd pass away this morning when he bold me that Guillord Puncan is engaged. but I can't remember the girl. Somebody told me that Guillord Puncan is engaged. but I can't remember the girl. Somebody told me that Guillord Puncan is engaged. but I can't remember the girl. Somebody told me that Guillord Puncan is engaged. but I can't remember the girl. Somebody told me that Guillord Puncan is engaged. but I can't remember the girl. Somebody told me that Guillord Puncan is engaged. but I can't remember the girl. "But the neighborhood is a perfect hoo-doo. Every time a silk hat and frock coat hadn't seen any girls for three months, excomes along on a Sunday afternoon you cept Indians, and when he reached New should see the panic! Girls' heads fly out York the bright, green and blue vells the of every window, and if he stops at any one house all the others get out and parade in front of the windows and take occasion to call on the girl themselves and other say nothing of teasing the life out of her after he is gone. It takes a courageous were life, those Swiss things that some of them after he is gone. It takes a courageous were here. The driver had evidently found man, I can tell you, to call in Rubber a green and blue man, I can tell you, to call in Rubber place.

"Did you know that Mary Heed is engaged? Yes, I heard of it three weeks ago, but she only announced it at the luncheon Blanche Niedringhaus gave. There were all '01 girls invited, as Mary was a special that year. It's the fashion this fall to get engaged just as young as you can. I'm almost too old myself, (She is about twenty, and barely out of school.) Gladys Taussig is another early engaged one, and I'm sure Grace Priest and Billy Grayson set the style last spring. They are going to work the style last spring. They are going to work the style last spring. They are going to work the style last spring. They are going to work the style last spring. They are going to work the style last spring. They are going to work the style last spring. They are going to work the style last spring. They are going to work the style last spring. They are going to the two bright colors. She saw the horse in a minute and also saw Mr. Rhodes haughing at it clong came a very smurt-looking girl with a long came a very smurt-looking girl with colors. She saw the horse in a minute and also saw Mr. Rhodes laughing. Quick as a flash she ducked round the correct out of sight. Yes, that's all the story. He never the same that the story is a subject to the two bright colors. She saw the horse in a minute and also saw Mr. Rhodes was laughing at it can came a very smurt-looking girl with a long came a very smurt-looking to the look of the horse's hat, and it looked perfectly killing. While Mr. Rhodes was laughing at it can came a very smurt-looking girl with a long came a v

Convenient, isn't it? "Do you really like this hat? Well, if I had my way I'd wear nothing else but black and white-black on the street and white in the house. Yes, all the time. My white in the house. Yes, all the time. My new black net is a dream, and no mistake, with lotr of cream lace on the waist. But I can hardly wait for it to make the ribbon bunched up into big rosettes. I can hardly wait for it to get cold, so I can wear my new furs. Yes, fox; and that lovely shade of red-brown. They will go so well with my new brown broadcloth

Will it be gay this winter? Well, there are lots of girls coming out, and that ought to help some, don't you think? But I've had a good enough time all summer. Stayed

"Ruth Espenschied will come out. She went some place in New York last year at school, and she ought to have a very fine time with Louise's coaching. I don't know anybody more popular with all kinds of men, old and young, and selemn and gay, than Louise Espenschied. "Then there's Marie Peckham and Clara-

Carter, both home to stay, and perhaps Ma-bel Wood, though I don't believe she's fully decided to come out this winter. Lucille Niedringhaus is sure to be a belle, and Edwina Tutt another. Edwina will be seen for the very first time at Lauise Chappell's wedding on November 19. That's the date.

to move into their new home next week.
It's right next door to the Ed Graysons, so they can borrow things over the back fence.

"Isn't that pink bath robe the loveliest "Isn't that pink bath robe the loveliest ever. It's almost exactly like the one Mrs. Edgar Macy made for Miss Ella Beers.

That was pale-blue French flannel of a de-lightful soft shade of blue, the fronts and on either side and the ends of ribbon falling clear to the hem."

"This kimono I like best, though. That white crepe is so bride-y, and that bige ribbons with the French rosebuds makes it too fascinating for words.

"Now, I've got to go. Carrie Cook Prec-torius invited me to drive with her at 4 and I forgot and told Lacy Green that I'd right here, and there was something doing go out in her new auto at 4:30, so I must run down to the telephone and break faith with one of them.

"Tell you who the girls are in Rubber place? Oh, drop in some morning and I'll give you all their names and pedigrees. You'll see that we're every one eligible and altogether charming. Please tell all the nice men you know about our lonsesome-ness, won't you? "Good-by, had a perfectly splendid time. Those sweethreads were simply fine and dandy. Please invite me soon again Good-by; what's that German word that means until we meet again, so sentimental and nice, a.f wiederschen? That's it. Auf wiederschen." SERENA LAMB. -dersehen-

An important wedding of the past week was that of Miss Jennie Engle Seghers, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jehn B. Seghers, to Mr. James Edward Adamson, late of Peterboro, Ontario, which took place on Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock at the handsome residence of the bride's parents, No. 435 Cook avenue. About sixty relatives, many from out of the city, and some intimate friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by the Reverend William Russell Scarritt in the drawing-room, which was converted into a floral hower. Elaborate decorations of white and pink roses, combined with much smilax, were used to trim all the rooms, the drawing-room having a large canopy built of greens and studded with flowers of the two colors, small electric globes concealed in the follage.

Large showers of roses ornamented the corners and the chandellers were trimmed with roses and smilax tied with big bows of satin ribbons. with roses and smilax tied with big bows of sain ribbons.

The bride wore a handsome costume of soft crepe de Chine, made with high bodice and long sleeves, and trimmed profusely in French applique in white. The trained skirt was paneled, while a wreath of applique and pearls was festooned about the hem. She wore no veil, substituting a plumed aisprette, and carried a large shower of Illies of the valley tied with long satin streamers. It was one of the most effective bridal costumes seen this fall and proved especially becoming to the bride, who entered the rooms with her father, to the music of a stringed orchestra that played softly in the reception hall.

Miss F. Ruth Seghers assisted her sister as bridesmaid, while Charles Bateman of Chicago was Mr. Adamson's best man. The bridesmaid wore silver embroidery over tur-love. When Doctor Breier left Tipton in 1991, where he had been Coroner of Moniteau County, to take up practice in Ferguson, Miss Higgins had become his fiance. The wedding will be a society event of Tipton.
